

21 Developer-Friendly Resources for Managing Multiple Clients

This is an extra resource to go along with the original article:

7 Quick Wins for Busy Developers Using WordPress

---

Busy developers need a little help sometimes, especially when dealing with multiple clients. Here are a few tools for helping you meet the demands of your busy clientele without breaking a sweat.

Single Dashboard Tools (WordPress)

Working with multiple clients in WordPress can be tough when you're constantly switching between sites. These tools allow you to add unlimited WordPress sites to get an eagle eye's view of all of everything from one central location. You can backup and restore all of your sites, and update your themes and plugins with one click. If you manage multiple sites at once, this is a game changer.

ManageWP

InfiniteWP

MainWP

RemoteWP

Password Management Tools

Multiple clients often mean multiple logins and passwords, and keeping track of them all can be tricky. These tools will store passwords for you, so you'll be able to log in and out from each site quickly. You can also use intricate and incredibly secure passwords without worrying about forgetting them.

LastPass

1Password

Dashlane

KeePass

Client Communication Tools

Team communication is an essential part of any developer's job, but emails often get lost or missed, and may not be the best method for working on multiple projects with multiple clients. These tools will help facilitate your workflow in a more organized manner so you can focus on your work without missing a beat.

Slack

Hipchat

Campfire

Bitrix24

File Sharing/Cloud Storage Tools

At some point you will need to send files to your clients, or at the very least keep files sent to you. These tools will help you organize and share those files quickly and easily while being a simultaneous backup in case something goes wrong.

DropBox

Google Drive

Box.com

Sky Drive

Project Management Tools

Multiple clients often means multiple projects, and having more than a pen-and-paper system for keeping track of your workflow will not only save you time, but prevent any projects from slipping through the cracks. These tools are designed to help you track multiple projects at a time, and you can even bring clients along for the ride if needed.

Trello

Asana

Basecamp

Evernote

Wrike